Connelly States Facts To Clarify Article 55 In Town Warrant

In an effort to clarify the situation pertaining to Article 55 in the 1965 annual Appropriations Warrant affecting the Water Distribution System for Agawam, Selectman Edward W. Connelly issued a list of facts which the Town Meeting Members should be aware of when the article comes before them for consideration.

1—The information discussed before the members at all six (6) precinct meetings was purely informative.

F. Hills Women's Club Meet Mar. 3

The March meeting of the Feeding Hills Community Women's Club will be held in the Grange Home on North West St. Wednesday evening at eight o'clock. Guest night will be observed and all members are encouraged to bring a friend or a member of their family.

The program committee will present Mr. Alfred Wolfe of Monsanto Chemical Co., who will give a demonstration of glass blowing.

Members are reminded to bring to this meeting a suitable gift to be used as a door prize for the March 19th card party to be held in the Grange Hall for the benefit of the scholarship fund. Knit squares for the afghan should also be brought to this meeting.

Mrs. William Cass is chairman of the hostesses and will be assisted by Mrs. Harry Cesan, Mrs. Hollis Kane, Mrs. Ernest Swanson, Mrs. Donald Gaunt, and Mrs. Kenneth LaFountaine.

2—The Federal survey, complete with seismography drillings, soil and water analysis was conducted to assure the Town of Agawam that when and if it ever became necessary for our Town to consider a Town source of water, there was one available! This consideration would become factual perhaps in 20 to 30 years from now based on increased projected population figures of 25,000 to 30,000 persons and a potential daily water consumption increase from the present 1.5 million gallons per day to 4 million gallons per day!

3—Our present water distribution systems, due to a combination of 8", 4", 6", 2", water mains constructed over the years has resulted in excessive frictional loss and pressure drop.

4—The Fire survey conducted in 1963, proved our pressures at the majority of points tested to be woefully inadequate. This decreases the Fire Protection potential of our existing equipment and personnel.

5—At peak usage periods, a grave health hazard exists for the citizens of our town.

6—Increased water facilities are a must if we are to improve our industrial facilities climate to attract new industry to Agawam.

Contrary to the misinformation which has appeared in various printed articles, the cost to Agawam in 1965 will be nil based on information made known to the Selectmen and Finance Committee last week. The facts are:

1—We plan to ask the Town Meeting for permission to apply, under Public Law 560, for Federal funds to prepare construction plans to improve the Water Distribution System.

2—We wish to have the plans (Continued on Page 2)

Heart Fund Drive Canvass Sunday — Be Generous

Last-minute plans are being completed throughout the state for the most massive Heart Sunday drive ever staged here for the Heart Fund, it was announced today by Secretary of State Kevin H. White, 1965 State Chairman.

the 1965 Heart Fund," Secretary White said.

He appealed for "complete, generous support" for the campaign, conducted annually by the Massachusetts Heart Association and its chapters throughout the commonwealth.

Heart Funds—more than $800,000—expended on research in Massachusetts over the past year by the American and Massachusetts Heart Associations have provided significant progress toward the saving of lives and this, Secretary White declared, "is compelling reason for our people to get squarely behind the 1965 Heart Fund and make it a great success on Heart Sunday."

project cost under the new Blatnik Bill presented to the Congress on Jan. 11, 1965 as part of our president's Great Society Program.

This could mean that the future of Agawam—its fire protection, its health guard, its industrial attractiveness—is being considered by its leaders first and foremost and with the distinct possibility of a major improvement being accomplished at 1/3 the original estimated cost.

The $1,300,000 headlined figure covered the entire survey, which as noted above will not be contemplated for many years to come. The improvement of Water Distribution only was estimated at $604,000 and we can now see that given the permission to apply for Federal Aid, it is conceivable to bring major improvement of a dire requirement at a cost of approximately $200,000.

We urge all taxpayers and Town Meeting Members to honestly consider the overall advantage to Agawam in this Article.

"Y" Plans Annual Auction For May 1

Donation of Antiques Among Items Needed

President Ernest Swanson of the YMCA announced plans for the May 1st auction are proceeding at a good rate. Many interested townspeople have volunteered their help for the affair. Besides good used furniture, bric-a-brac, books, dishes, copper, iron, electric items, etc., Mr. Swanson said antiques are being sought.

In the past years, antiques have been given to the auction and a fine sum was realized for the YMCA youth activities. It is hard to part with antiques but any person doing so will be helping the youth program for the boys and girls of Agawam. A call is announced at this time for someone to donate an antique and this will be reported in the press.

Chairman of the auction committee, Archie Taylor, also announced that a patrons committee has been formed with Mr. and Mrs. William McLellan serving as chairman and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Danford, cochairmen. Citizens of Agawam not having antiques, furniture or other items to donate may help this cause by placing their name on the patrons list of the auction. Further information may be had by contacting either the chairmen or co-chairmen of the patrons committee. The list of patrons will be announced at a later date.

Mr. Swanson and Jack Moltenbrey, "Y" secretary, are serving as honorary chairmen of the annual affair to be held, Saturday, May 1, time and place to be announced. Residents wishing to donate articles may have them picked up by contacting Fred Affleck of South Park Ter., or any of the above committee.

UNICO Spaghetti Supper Huge Success

Albert Christopher, chairman of the UNICO Spaghetti Supper held Feb. 11, at the Junior High School cafeteria submitted his final report to Club President Francis Capitanio.

Mr. Capitanio noted in the report that over 1000 persons attended and dined on the following: 2400 meatballs, 240 pounds macaroni, 13 crates of lettuce, 150 loaves of bread, 450 containers of milk, 1200 cups of coffee, 12 trays of cake and over 75 gallons of sauce.

Mr. Capitanio expressed his heartfelt thanks to the people of Agawam for their support and congratulated Mr. Christopher and his co-chairman Mr. DePalo for a job well done. The entire local Unico Chapter participated in the event.

A home made cake and cookie sale conducted by Wives held in conjunction with the supper was highly successful.

The ALA points out that driving is a serious business, requiring full-time attention, mature judgment and a sense of responsibility.

Major and Henry Co-Star In Musical 'Do Re Mi'

Leading roles in "Do Re Mi" have been won by William Henry and Elizabeth Major for the Agawam High production on March 11, 12 and 13.

Playing along with Robert Guidetti and Linda Barufaldi, William will do the part of John Henry Wheeler, a recording company tycoon; Feth will do the part of Tilda Hullen, a singing waitress who is soared to fame as a recording star. Each will have several solos in the musical.

Both students are veterans of Agawam High musicals. Beth started as a freshman in the stage chorus of "Annie Get Your Gun." In her second year she was in the stage chorus and had a minor role as the Mayor's wife in "Bye Bye Birdie." She continued last year in chorus and supporting roles. One of the few Agawam High students to be selected for Western Mass. District Chorus for four years, she has been active in all chorale groups at school and church and is director of Melody Choir at the Baptist Church. Beth is a serious music student and intends to make music a career.

This will be the fourth stage musical role for Bill also, having started in stage chorus for "Annie Get Your Gun" and "Bye Bye Birdie." Last year he took the part of Larry Hastings in "Bells Are Ringing." Active in music and drama groups, Bill has played in the Agawam High Band, is a member of chorale (this year selected for District Chorus); a class officer of senior class; he also had a key role in the recent production of "Cheaper by the Dozen."

Civil Defense Report For 1964

Arthur Zavarella, Civil Defense Director, for the town of Agawam has submitted the following annual report for 1964:

The year 1964 in C. D. was noteworthy in two respects: the Office of Civil Defense became more firmly entrenched in the military under the Secretary of the Army, and the local scene flourished with activity and improvements in our Communications network and capability. The Government furnished supplies for most of our authorized Fall-out Shelters and were transferred from the Army Depot to their destinations in Agawam. Formal instruction was arranged for and provided by the Mass. Department of Education to our regular and Auxiliary Police personnel on fallout and shelter management.

All of the portable and mobile two-way Radio equipment was used during the year in numerous drills with volunteer Communications and Auxiliary Police operators. These units were used to augment the town's Public Safety facilities on such days as Halloween, and the Conn. River Regatta. Permanent antenna installations were completed and tested with excellent results from the three Fire Stations to Headquarters at the Town Hall.

Other events worth mentioning are the part played by Civil Defense in conjunction with Hampden District Medical Society in furnishing the Oral Polio supplies to our Health Department in the Cafeteria of our Junior High School; the first demonstration of the elaborately equipped State C. D. Radio mobile unit, and the all-day conference held at Westover in mid-December at which the State Director, Mr. Daniel J. Finn, spoke to an audience of C. D. officials and Civic leaders that included Mr. Louis DePalma in the delegation from Agawam.

TODAY'S AGRI-FACT

Any day now the maple sap will be running again. All it seems to take, according to Lou Webster of the Dept. of Agriculture, is thawing weather in the daytime and freezing at night. There are probably 10 times as many maple trees as there are trees that are tapped. But labor is so costly that only big trees reasonably near a sugar house or a road can be tapped profitably. In colonial days, the trees were tapped by hand. Nowadays tapping is done mostly by power drills. In some cases the sap runs direct from trees to sugar house in plastic tubes. One thing that hasn't changed: it still takes 30 to 40 gallons of sap to make a gallon of syrup. It takes a good sugar producing tree to produce sap with 3% sugar. As sap, it is worth about 7 cents a gallon in order to reduce it to syrup that wholesales at $7 a gallon.

Nothing But The Tooth

The state of dental care in the United States, like our medical care, is undoubtedly the most advanced in the world. But before we get too starry-eyed about it, let's consider whether there are any gaps in the total picture.

It is or isn't it a stopper, for example, when the National Institute of Dental Research informs us that half the children in the United States under 15 years of age have never been to a dentist?

Can we really feel cozy about the whole thing when we learn from the same authentic source that the number of untreated cavities in American teeth adds up to a round billion?

Again, can we be complacent when we learn that millions of people suffer loss of teeth because of diseased gums and adjacent mouth tissue?

Nor is that all. Not long ago a public health officer called attention to the fact that eight million American children need orthodontic treatment—that is, corrective care to prevent permanent disfigurement of the mouth or jaw. He cited, as reasons, ignorance or apathy on the part of the parents, inability to pay, a lack of available dentists, and difficulties of transportation.

While it's true that George Washington achieved immortality despite a set of ill-fitting wooden choppers, dental neglect is anything but an aid to health or welfare. Neglected teeth and gums aren't just the enemies of good looks, digestion and comfort; they can lead to serious systemic disease. Your Christmas Seal association suggests that you convert an ancient saying into a modern family program: Get a dental checkup at least twice a year!

New World Stamp

A five-cent postage stamp commemorating the 400th anniversary of the first permanent European settlement in the New World will be issued.

Spanish colonists established a settlement in Florida in September 1565.

To celebrate the beginning of European civilization on this continent, Congress has created the National Quadricentennial Commission, to which President Johnson has appointed committee members.

Colonization by the Spanish began in 1559 at Pensacola, Fla., but the settlement later was abandoned. A permanent settlement began six years later at St. Augustine, Fla., which is the oldest continuous settlement in the United States.

The 400th Anniversary of Settlement stamp brings to thirteen the number of commemorative stamps Postmaster General John A. Gronouski has announced for 1965. Date and place of issuance will be announced later.

SPORTSMEN'S CORNER

By Bill Chiba

Bryant Chaplin, Information Officer for the Division of Fisheries and Game, sends word that the quota of 140 applicants for the Mass. Junior Conservation Camp has been filled. "There is just no room left for further applicants," remarked Chaplin, "unless some of the boys cancel out at the last minute." Well, don't raise your hopes too high on this score, for very few are unable to attend the camp when the sessions start. The best you can do now is to ask that your club be put on the waiting list for next year. First come, first served... it has to be this way to be fair to all the interested people and organizations who want to send a youngster to the camp.

This last week has been a very busy one for this scribe. First, we attended the hearing on House Bill 1008 in Boston at the State House. The hearing room was jammed to capacity with interested people in favor of the Bill. The most amazing part of the session, I think, was the registering of over 50 legislators in favor of the bill. Only four gentlemen appeared in opposition to the measure, and every one had a personal gripe towards the Division of Fisheries and Game. They are so bitter that they would attempt to scrap this most important piece of legislation for personal satisfaction and let the rest of the sportsmen and conservationist go to pot. The most vehement was Warren Turner, Representative from Lee, Mass. His county had 10 sportsmen clubs vote in favor of 1008 and one club against. Guess what club was against? Turner's club. He actually stated that he was doing the sportsmen a favor by opposing this bill, because the sportsmen had been sold a "bill of goods" by the Division and they (the sportsmen) did not know what they were voting in favor of. What Poppycock! We found out later from Division personnel, why Mr. Turner hated the Division. They had discontinued the pheasant matching program with Mr. Turner's club because of irregularities concerning the release of the birds to natural covers.

More Fish

Rep. Turner stated that he would go along with the bill if it was amended to buy the Hartsfield Federal Hatchery, which is being closed by the Federal Government because of difficulties encountered in operating the plant. In other words, the operating costs are too high, but he (Turner) wants the Division to take over the "White Elephant" and absorb the exorbitant costs involved in raising trout there. Yes, Mr. Turner is really doing what is best for the sportsmen, considering that the sportsmen license dollars are used for operating fish hatcheries. I call it talk-out out of the other side of one's mouth.

Personal Here in Agawam

We are going through much the same circumstances here in our town of Agawam. Mr. Joseph Napolitan has filed Article 97 for action by the town meeting members, whereas every landowner in town must give written permission to those who desire to hunt on their property. When questioned on his reasons for inserting the article, Mr. Napolitan stated many reasons that had no connection with hunters who might use his golf course for hunting (I've yet to find out what there is to hunt on a golf course). People are digging up his shrubbery (nothing to do with hunters)... People who are using his course for sliding in the winter are spreading oil on his grass (nothing to do with hunters)... kids are shooting holes in his signs (he knows who the youngsters are but doesn't want to complain to their parents because some of them play golf on his course). When asked by a town meeting member why he doesn't post his property and appeal to the local police for protection... he said that he does not want to spend the money for signs. To save a few dollars, he would rather force his neighbors to adopt a blanket edit concern-

The idea of smokin' gun barrels and fallin' feathers is bound to replace many sportsmen's thoughts of fishing now that shooting seasons are open around the nation. A lot of folks will be thinking in terms of pheasants, ducks, quail, grouse and deer. The smell of burnt gunpowder is sure to be wafting around regularly.

Whether or not you've decided to put the fishing gear away in favor of firearms, this is a good time to clean up your tackle. How long has it been, for instance, since you lubricated your reels? How many seasons have passed since you checked the windings on your rods and put on a coat of lacquer?

Stored fishing boxes have a way of developing horrible odors from spilled "bug juice," pieces of underwater plants, fluid from pork rind jars, etc. Empty yours. Scrub it clean, then dry it out. While they're handy, check over your lures, hooks, flies, leaders, etc. Take inventory of what you have. After all, the holiday season is here. A "need" list is very good psychology. A well-placed hint now could mean a fuller tackle box later.

If you have all the ties you need, suggest a few new lures, such as the Garcia rubber Plucky lure or the life-like Garcia Eelet. If it's to be a bigger present, how about a new fast-retrieve Mitchell 400 spinning reel loaded with Super Playtl monofilament line?

A messy tackle box is a pain any-time, so use care when repacking yours. One hint—don't overload. If you can, keep fly fishing tackle in one, saltwater tackle in another, spinning and baitcasting equipment in a third. If you are a one-tackle-box fisherman, reserve special areas for different types of tackle.

Model airplane paint is handy for touching up the worn lures you're sure to come across, while a little lube on the gears of your reels will make them easier to operate and increase their useful life. Take the reels apart, then check for rust, dirt, or sand. Wipe the reels clean before lubricating. Reassembly is easier with a manufacturer's instruction manual handy.

If you are planning on a hunt in remote country, it's wise to remember that you could run into some lightly fished water there. It'd be a shame this year to fill the game limit and then have to sit idly by a good stream, pond, or lake. Fishing could provide a pretty nice bonus. 'Nuff said?

ing their own personal property. How one way can you get? What Joe fails to realize is that if this by-law is adopted, the town is not going to furnish the landowners with signs stating that only hunting by written permission is allowed, he will have to post his land, and every landowner in the town will also in order to get a conviction in District Court. Actually Mr. Napolitan will be compelling his neighbors to expend money for signs whether they want to or not. WE URGE THE TOWNSPEOPLE TO CONTACT THEIR TOWN MEETING MEMBERS AND INSTRUCT THEM TO VOTE NO ON ARTICLE 97.

Benefit Basketball Game

The second annual benefit basketball game between the faculty and seniors is just around the corner. On March 5th the contest will take place. The seniors hold the edge since they walloped the faculty last year. Seniors will be coached by Billy Turgeon and Bobby Mosher. The team personnel includes: Ron Penna, Russ Weber, Joe Zucco, Bill Brown, Larry Scherpa, Ron Provost, Russ Ramah, Nick DePalma, Mike Grady, Len Patnode, Rick Gerard, Lee Naciewicz, John McGrady, Phil DeForge, Louie Rosso, Jay Balboni, David Dean, Bill Hayes, Tom Bartolucci, and Roland Benjamin.

The faculty team is trying to secure a coach for this year's game instead of having a player-coach like last year. Notices have been sent out to Mr. Fred Schaus, Mr. Bob Cousy and Mr. Joe Faucette in an attempt to obtain professional help. It is very possible that Mr. Faucette will accept and coach the faculty. Returning from last year's team will be John Petrone, Henry Drabik, Bill Lyons, Pete Mazza, Gus Chrsanthopolus, and Larry Sheehan. New faces will be Mike Feldman, John Burke, Dick Dudek, George Shar-kis and Rudy Altobelli. This talented teachers group will attempt to even up the series with a faculty win. A half-time show is in the plans.

Proceeds of this game are used entirely for scholarship funds. Last year's game was a sellout and over $500. was collected for scholarships. We hope that this year's proceeds will be even bigger. Come and join the fun March 5th and watch the seniors against the faculty!

PROMENADERS

By Al and Elaine Taupier

Last Friday evening many enjoyed workshoping with Dick Mastriani calling. Joe Gasperini welcomed guests from several clubs and also the members of our new class. The new class, future members of our club, looked real sharp out dancing and certainly kept up with the best of us. I'm sure they are looking forward to their formal graduation coming up the beginning of March, along with our potluck supper.

Dick really put us to work learning and perfecting several figures, including the tea cup chain, crazy eight and grande half square thru, amongst others.

This Friday night Dick Steele will be back with us. Because of the school vacation, we will dance at the Feeding Hills Congregational Church, Feeding Hills Center at 8 p.m. Tino and Anita Davilli will be on hand for anyone wishing to sign up for the potluck supper.

Hope to see all dancing!

Conn. Valley Flower Show March 3-9

"Melodies of Springtime" will be the theme of the 16th annual Connecticut Valley Flower Show, March 3 to 9 in the Better Living Center, Eastern States Exposition, West Springfield. The theme was announced by John B. Smail, Jr., president of the sponsoring Connecticut Valley Horticultural Society.

An additional 3,500sq. ft. of exhibit space will be allocated to landscape and garden displays, Mr. Smail added. "In all probability the 1965 Flower Show will be the largest ever presented by the Horticultural Society."

To carry out the general theme of the floral spectacular, borders and displays will represent song titles concerned with spring.

Albert Appleman, Longmeadow, will again serve as general manager of the Flower Show.

The annual spring floral festival is a combined effort by nursery and landscape experts, retail florists, Florist Telegraph Delivery Association, Department of Natural Resources, Springfield Park Department, wholesale growers, the New England Carnation Society, Florist and Gardeners Club of Western Mass., Springfield Florist Club, and the Landscape Department of the University of Mass.

Rice And Pork Make Thrifty Dish

The thrifty homemaker uses every last piece of roast meat—even if there is less than a cup of the meat left. Every little bit of roasted meats—pork, beef, lamb, and veal—has a lot of flavor which can add enjoyment to many main dishes.

A case in point is this recipe for Oriental Fried Rice. Only 1/4 cup of prepared meat is required—yet there is enough flavor to satisfy four hungry diners—six not-so-hungry eaters. The use of rice makes this possible. Rice, bland in flavor and high in nutrition, combines well with almost any well seasoned food. In Oriental Fried Rice, the rice is combined with a bit of roasted pork, celery, green onions, bean sprouts, and seasonings to make an easy-to-prepare and even easier-to-eat main dish.

Serve Oriental Fried Rice with a salad made of Chinese cabbage and pickled beets. Add some sesame seed rolls and a dessert of fresh fruits tossed with candied ginger. And to keep the Oriental flavor, let tea be the beverage of the meal.

Oriental Fried Rice

3 cups cooked rice, cooled	1/2 cup drained bean sprouts
1/4 teaspoon salt	1 egg, beaten
1/4 cup slivered roast pork	2 tablespoons soy sauce
1/2 cup finely diced celery	Dash of pepper
1/3 cup diced green onions

Heat rice and salt in a well-greased skillet. Add meat, vegetables and egg. Cook, stirring, for 3 minutes over high heat. Add a little shortening if rice tends to stick. Add soy sauce and pepper. Cook and stir for 1 minute longer. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Mardi Gras!

The Mardi Gras was brought to the streets of New Orleans by early French colonists. The carnival custom originated in medieval France as a pre-Lenten spree before solemn days of fasting. In the old French ritual a garlanded boeuf gros, or fat ox, was ceremoniously paraded through town before being roasted for a feast. The first day of celebration was appropriately called "Fat Tuesday," from which the name Mardi Gras later derived.

The British also had early celebrations of the day. In England it is called Shrove Tuesday and has been celebrated since 1445 by a pancake race. Contestants run from village to church while flipping pancakes in a frying pan. Pancakes were chosen for use on this day because they were traditionally eaten by the British on the days that sins were confessed. The ingredients in pancakes were thought to have special spiritual meaning. Eating pancakes symbolized the shuffling away of sins. Flour was considered the staff of life. Salt gave wholesomeness. Eggs provided the lenten spirit and milk represented innocence.

In the United States the first Mardi Gras days featured only informal dances and street celebrations. It was not until 1857 that masked balls, floats and elaborate torchlight parades were added to the festivities.

Fences To Hide Junk Yards Under New Law In Ohio

COLUMBUS, O.—New law in Ohio makes it necessary for junk yard operators to keep their places of business more attractive—or face possible fines or revocations of their privileges.

The law requires rural junk yards to be concealed by fences at least six feet high if they are within 1000 feet of state or county highways or within 300 feet of township roads.

Those operators who don't comply with the law can be fined $25 to $100 and lose his auto junk yard license. The license is also a part of the new law. It costs $25 and is renewable each year for $10.

The law requires the sheriff to inspect licensed junk yards at least twice a year and make a written report to the auditor, citing any violations.

Doll houses enchant any little girl on sight.

No home need be without one. The cost of a dollhouse can be very moderate. A simple one is even better than an elaborate one. Half the fun is in the putting and decorating.

You may live in a small apartment or a big house or maybe you have a summer cottage. Any setting is right for a dollhouse. It is sure to be enjoyed by a small daughter, a visitor, a young friend, a grand-daughter or niece.

"If space is scarce," says Betty Ren Wright of Whitman Publishing Company in Racine, Wisconsin, "the perfect answer is a punch-out dollhouse in book form that can be kept in a dresser drawer."

Punch-out houses can be bought at the counters of most variety stores. Any little girl can set up the house by folding as directed and inserting tabs in the right places. The final three-room house is complete with roof and chimney and windowboxes and cheerful furniture colorfully printed on heavy paper.

The punch-out house could also be copied in plywood. Plain wooden orange crates make good dollhouses, too. Even a low pair of bookshelves, with a roof over the top, can serve as a dollhouse for the guest room.

A box of decorating material will add to a small girl's pleasure. Walls can be papered with gift wrap. Fabric remnants make rugs and tablecloths. Postage stamp pictures can go on the walls. Small boxes colored with crayon turn into furniture. Pebbles and twigs become a patio.

A family of paper dolls can come and go on errands.

Any dollhouse takes on a busy life in the hands of a little girl. It's a world set in motion by her own creativity, and that's its charm. Watch a rainy day fly when you supply the materials for small-scale home-making.

What's the Matter With Blinkers?

San Francisco
The horses of the San Francisco Police Department have given a loud nay to taillights.

Now the mounted patrol asks anyone for suggestions for a way to illuminate back ends of horses without making the animals uncomfortable.

Police have tried iridescent tape and streamers, dangling reflectors, and battery-operated lights — with no success.

In fact, Sgt. Joe Galik designed a harness taillight for his 14-year-old horse, Jack.

"He put up with it for a week," said Sergeant Galik. "Then he reached around and ripped it off with his teeth."

The horses need the taillights, because they are ridden single file to duty assignments, and state law requires all convoys to be lighted in the rear.

42 States Consider Higher Taxes

A review of tax proposals in 42 states shows that many are planning to increase taxes to raise more money, says Commerce Clearing House.

Methods of raising money for state treasuries range from proposed new sales taxes in New York, Massachusetts, and Idaho to the adoption of income-tax withholding in several states.

Sales taxes — already the best single source of collections in 30 states — are up for higher rates in Colorado, Utah, and Wyoming as well as a broader base for the North Dakota sales levy.

To balance the huge budgets of $4 million in California and almost $3.5 billion in New York for fiscal 1966, chief executives are calling for new and broadened taxes.

If our taxes go much higher a person is going to have to work like a dog to live like one.

Director of Veterans Services

Injuries or illness that totally and permanently disable veterans or bring about their death do not have to be wartime in origin to make their children eligible for the educational assistance administered by the Veterans Administration, William F. Connors, manager of VA's Boston office pointed out.

The original War Orphans Education Assistance program was set up solely for those children whose veteran-parent had died due to wartime disabilities.

Congress later amended this to include also children of veterans whose deaths had resulted from extra-hazardous line-of-duty injuries or illness in peacetime service.

A further amendment by the recent Congress extended the program to the sons and daughters of living veterans, permanently and totally disabled.

Eligible children, generally between the ages of 18 and 23, may receive up to 36 months of schooling.

Full information may be obtained at the VA regional office, One Beacon Street, Boston.

Jaywalking is "a sure-footed way to become a highway accident statistics," says the ALA. Last year in Boston, the ALA notes, 55 pedestrians were among the 75 persons killed in traffic mishaps. The main causes of these pedestrian fatalities were crossing between cars and crossing at mid-block.
